My Report Card Reflections

Take a few minutes to review your report card. Then complete the reflective statements below. Remember, if there are parts of your report card for which you are not satisfied, in order for results to change, some study behavior or action has to change.

I am proud of:

I am not happy with:

The changes I will make during the new grading period are:
(Specific actions more detailed than “raise my grade” or “study more” should be included here.)
